

1.) Number of Parameters(avg/max per method)

TwitterClient(); It reached the max number of parameters

2.) You could break the method into multiple smaller ones.

3.) Yes it does. It has a max of 10.

4.) 3, if the first if statement passed, if the first failed and the second if statement (in the else) passed, or if neither of them passed.

5.) afferent is where stuff on the outside of the method depend on the things inside of it, efferent is the opposite.

6.)  $(806) / (928 + 154) = 74.492\%$

7.)  $(761) / (948 + 928 + 154 - 806) = 62.173\%$

8.)  $(1 - (126) / (3526)) = 96.427\%$